Grey whales are one of the longest-lived mammals. The secret to their long lives? The presence of stress-resistant genes in their DNA, according to scientists at the Institute of Biochemistry. "It is stress resistance that protects most long-lived animals from cancer," says Dr. Dmitri Toren of the institute.

When you find yourself worrying about something or feeling stressed, stop for a moment and shift your attention to God. Remember that the Divine is with you and you have the capacity to tap into a reservoir of Infinite Intelligence. With God, all things are possible."
 – Scott Awbrey
